Winter Weather

We are very fortunate that we can ride in almost any weather but to be comfortable you must be dressed appropriately. Here are some tips to stay warm:

⇒ Wear LAYERS (Ingleside ordering information on the next page).

⇒ GLOVES: Lined leather riding gloves are best and riders must wear gloves when it is under 50 degrees. Ensure gloves have "grip".

⇒ EAR WARMERS & HATS are all good ideas to keep your warmth in.

⇒ LEGGINGS, LONG UNDERWARE or TIGHTS under riding pants are smart.

Caboodle Clean Out

Now is a perfect time to clean out your make box and hair box. We suggest removing every item for review:

- * Throw away hairnets with ANY holes
- * Discard mascara (twice per year)
- * Wash make-up brushes and replace eye shadow applicators
- * Toss hair pins with no tips
- * Remove hairbands that are stretched out
- * Wash hair brushes and combs

- * Ensure hairspray is at least half full
- * Make sure hair bows still clip and are stored in a flat space
- * Store collar stays, collar extenders, and collar bars together
- * Ensure you have at least 4 number magnets/pins
- * Replace any needed items and always have a spare
- * Mark your box with your name or initials

Now you are ready for the next show season!

5 Reasons Why I Support My Daughter's Horse Show Habit

Most of us have been there. We go to close out our check at the end of a weekend of showing and balk at the bill. It never changes, it happens to me every time. I ask myself why do I spend all this money for a couple of ribbons? I'm dirty, exhausted and broke, but as I curse under my breath and slowly make my way back to the stalls I see the smile on my daughter's face and I know why.

Here are five important life lessons that are hidden in horse showing.

1. LIFE'S NOT FAIR

Sometimes you put in that ultimate ride and can't believe that the person in your flat class, whose horse took eight trot strides before cantering, pinned above you. Who knows, maybe they don't like the color of your horse, it could be anything. Well, guess what kiddo? Life's not fair. You don't always win, even when you have the perfect ride, but you pick yourself up, smile and try again another day — that's life in the real world.

2. LOSING GRACEFULLY

Too many kids these days throw a fit if they don't win or when they don't get what they want. What's that going to change? Be happy you are lucky enough to go to a horse show. Congratulate the winner and move on. Life isn't always going to go the way you want it to. It's best to learn that early on.

3. HARD WORK PAYS OFF

It's completely unrealistic to think you can ride a day or two a week and be successful at a horse show. I always tell my daughter what you put into it, is what you get out of it whether it's her horse, school or anything. The more you practice and prepare the more successful you will be.

4. IF AT FIRST YOU DON'T SUCCEED, TRY, TRY AGAIN

No one wins all the time and even if you start winning, there always something to improve on or a level to move up to. Sometimes you even have to forget everything you learned and start fresh. (Oh the terror!) Perseverance is a sadly lacking skill in children these days. However, in horses and in life, if you don't give up you will get there eventually.

5. DON'T BE AFRAID TO ASK FOR HELP

Let's face it, horses can be some of the most frustrating creatures on earth! We have all stomped back to the stall, dragging our innocent looking horse behind us and cursing under our breath. When my daughter is having one of "those" days, I tell her to take a deep breath and ask her trainer for help at her next lesson. In horses, as in life, we aren't alone, no one knows everything. Don't be afraid to reach out and ask for help, it's always there if you need it.

Ashleigh Lacher is a full time single parent, horse show mom and occasional dressage rider. She loves her horses but spends more time taking care of them and grooming for her teenage daughter than actually riding, but she loves every minute of it!

Who's Got Moxie? We have a new lesson horse, Moxie! She is going to be teaching beginner lessons.

Monthly Equitation Pattern

Three Things About Equitation

<http://www.horsenation.com/2014/12/01/3-things-you-didnt-know-about-saddle-seat-equitation/>

All equitation riders and those up for a challenge: Each month we will publish a pattern that you are to master within the month. Alex will oversee those participating in the challenge and award PRIZES for those that execute this pattern perfectly within the month of December.

Season Wrap-Up

The last show of the season went well! Ingleside did well at the Carolina Summer Circuit finals and also had fun participating in the Southern Horse Festival Horse Show. Karen & Ken won their classes, Jason & Hannah were reserve in the Finals.

Susan, Monet, Hannah, Britt & Paul all won at the Southern Horse Festival.

From the Rule Book

For those learning about Hackney & Harness Ponies: HK-118.3 The term "drive on" is never to be used in regard to Harness Ponies. The gaits for the Harness Ponies shall be "Park Trot", which is executed in a highly collective manner and "Show Your Pony" which designates the speed which shows your pony to its best advantage. Excessive speed is undesirable and shall be penalized. Amateur, Ladies and Jr. Ex. ponies are shown at the park trot only.
